GERMANY ACCEPTS FULL LIABILITY ON THE LUSITANIA

Washington, July 14.—The German Government has admitted to the United States that it accepts full liability for the U. boat sinking of the great liner Lusitania, the incident which was largely responsible for America's entrance into the world war.

Admission of full liability has been made by the German representative before the Mixed Claims Commission meeting here to adjust all American war claims against the former enemy.

WOODSMAN PINCHOT SPARES NO TREES IN VETO SLASH

Harrisburg, Pa. July 14.—Governor Pinchot took off his coat today and waded relentlessly into legislation that he must sign or veto before midnight.

With the charitable appropriations policy disposed of the Governor turned his attention to bills of vital importance to the various local communities.

The Governor vetoed the Amnibus Road Bill. This bill would have added 725 miles of highway to the present road system. Another vetoed was that which would have permitted a two million mortgage on State College for improvements.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 14.—Lack of sufficient revenue was also given for the veto of the $300,000 appropriation for purchase of a site for the new eastern penitentiary.

Approval was given for improvements to the Rockview Penitentiary after it had been cut from $450,000 to $246,000.

The bill providing for road improvements in Valley Forge Park was vetoed.

Four of Senator Clarke's bills affecting anthracite and bituminous mine inspectors were vetoed because of inconsistencies with the administrative code.

The two departments of labor and industry bills, providing a fee system for inspection of boilers and elevators of the state were approved. These bills provide estimated revenue of $2,000,000 from this source not counted by the Auditor General's figures.

The Lynch Bill providing for a commission to investigate conditions of disabled world war veterans was signed.

One of the McDade bills, equalizing the sexes was likewise signed, giving married women the same rights as men whether living apart from their husbands or not.

The Ludlow Bill exempting appropriation to assist blind students was approved.

The Governor also approved the bill fixing the salaries of the Auditor General and State Treasurer.

Many of the Governor's vetoes were on account of conflict with the code. Two of Senator Smith's bills were vetoed on this account.

The Ludlow Bill exempting charities from the inheritance tax was vetoed. This would have cut off approximately $4,000,000 in revenue according to the Auditor General.

Had the bill become law, the Governor said: "Would have reduced the revenue of the state for the next two years."

Harrisburg, Pa., July 14.—The Governor disapproved the bills increasing the limit of salaries for members of courts in this class from $3,000 to $4,500.

The Berntheizer Bill, providing

CASH FOR GENIUS

Quarter Million Dollar Fund to Aid Amiteus Boys

By NEA Service.

PASSAIC, N. J., July 14.—Can cash bring out genius? Can money stimulate ambition? Julius Forstmann, wealthy philanthropist, and his wife wanted to find out. So they set aside a fund of $250,000 to assist the youth of the country "to attain to a large measure of self-realization and social usefulness."

And now they are swamped with applicants. So great has the rush become that a special office has been opened with a large corps of workers to handle the claims.

Boys who want to get an education and can't afford it, men who have a pet invention but no money to put it over, visionaries who would rearrange the world, if only they had the chance—are all striving to get their share of the fund.

Back of it all is the memory of a boy who died when he was 18. Carl Forstmann was the son of the philanthropist, a millionaire textile manufacturer here, and it is to his memory that the fund has been named the Carl Forstmann Memorial Foundation.

"The fund is not an endowment with only the interest available," says Forstmann. "It is a working capital every last cent of which will be used. Neither will it be limited necessarily to $250,000."

"I want to assist boys and young men who are hampered by financial circumstances to attain their ambitions. If they have ability and character I believe I can help them. At the same time I want to perpetuate the influence for intelligence, integrity and industry which would have been my son's had he been permitted to live."

Grants, according to the Forstmann plan, may be either awards or loans. A committee of representative business men and a pastor has been appointed which will expend the money for "education or training of any grade, degree or kind; the prosecution of useful experimentation and research; physical correction and rehabilitation; the realization of any particularly worthy ambition, which, with assistance, offers a strong likelihood of success."

LUMBER CITY MOTHER OF 5 KILLS SELF

MRS. GROVER HIPPS DIES SHORTLY AFTER DRINKING COFFEE IN WHICH SHE HAD PUT DOSE OF STRYCHNINE

Prepared and Sat Down to Breakfast With Her Husband at Six o'Clock; Fell Over Ill, Bottle Dropping from Clothes Told What Happened

FORMER TEACHER; ONLY 33 YEARS OLD

Mrs. Bessie Lehman Hipps, wife of Grover Hipps, who resides on the John Moore farm at the top of the hill on the road leading out of Lumber City, committed suicide about 6 o'clock this morning by taking a dose of strychnine.

Mrs. Hipps, who was 33 years of age, got up this morning as usual and got breakfast for her husband. When the meal was ready, about 6 o'clock, she called the husband from the barn where he was engaged in feeding his horses. The couple seated themselves at the table and Mrs. Hipps at once raised a cup of coffee to her lips and drank it. Shortly after drinking the coffee her husband says he noticed she became deathly sick and going to her he led her out onto the porch. Upon her arrival on the porch Mrs. Hipps was seized by a convulsion and while writhing in pain a bottle of strychnine dropped from her pocket to the floor of the porch.

Mr. Hipps then sensed what his wife had done and hurriedly summoned Dr. E. S. Erhard from Curwensville. Dr. Erhard made a quick trip to the Hipps home but before he arrived the powerful drug had done its deadly work and medical science was powerless to render any aid, the woman passing away following a third convulsion.

No motive can be given by the husband for the tragic happening. Mrs. Hipps left a note to her husband in which she said nobody was to blame but herself for the rash act she was about to commit, but that she proposed to commit suicide. She had been in bad health for some time and was subject to extreme nervousness and is said to have been impelled to commit the rash act through fear of her mind giving way.

Mrs. Hipps, whose home was said to have been at Fayetteville, Franklin county, Pa., was a college graduate and a successful Clearfield county school teacher before her marriage. In addition to her husband, she leaves five little children, the youngest being but about one year old.

Undertaker R. Wm. Thompson, of Clearfield, was called and prepared the remains for burial. The funeral will be held from the Hipps home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

IS ABLE TO BE ABOUT

T. D. Forsyth, who was seriously injured in an automobile wreck near Kelletstown several weeks ago, is now convalescing at the home of his son, John C. Forsyth on Turnpike avenue. He has so far recovered as to be able to walk over town to the barber shop this morning. His back is still giving him considerable trouble.

Prominent Lumberman Either Falls Or Jumps To Death In Phila.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 14.—Clarance B. Sweet, President of the National Lumber Company of Blue Field, either fell or leaped to his death from a window in the fifth floor of the Bellevue-Stratford here today, police reported.

The lumberman plunged down an air shaft and landed on the roof of an adjoining two story building. Death was instantaneous.

MRS. BERGDOLL IS GOING TO EUROPE TO VISIT SLACKER

Washington, D. C. July 14.—A passport will be granted Mrs. Emma Bergdoll to go abroad to visit her son, Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, American draft dodger, reported to be in hiding in Sweden. It was stated authoritatively at the State Department today.

The State Department asked the Alien Property Custodian, who is holding property reported worth near one million dollars of Mrs. Bergdoll's, for an opinion and the reply was there was no objection to granting the passport.

Mrs. Bergdoll is said to intend to sail from New York on the Hanover Tuesday.

SIX CONVICTS ESCAPE FROM EASTERN PENITENTIARY AFTER OVER-POWERING GUARD; COMMANDEER TRUCK AND FLEE

Philadelphia, July 14.—Six convicts at the Eastern Penitentiary overpowered the guard and escaped by climbing over the wall today, according to the police.

The prisoners were fully armed and after beating the guards into submission secured a rope and scaled the prison walls. The convicts then leaped upon a passing truck, threw the driver out and sped toward Fairmont Park.

MAUGHANT TACKLE REEDSVILLE PARTY SHOWS DAYLIGHT TO DAWN WHAT COMMUNITY SERVICE TRIP AGAIN MONDAY

Washington, July 14.—Lieutenant Russell Maughan, the speed king of the army air service, probably will attempt again his dawn-to-dusk flight across the continent on Monday, Major General Patrick, chief of the air service, said today. Patrick stated that he had granted Maughan permission to make another attempt at the flight with the provision that all conditions will be favorable.

At a meeting of the old and new officers of Community Service held at the Hotel Jordan last evening plans for the coming campaign to raise the budget funds required for this year were discussed, together with a program of activities for the coming year.

Reports of the past year's work were read and discussed at length and the decision arrived at that Community Service was a decidedly good thing for Clearfield and Clearfield's young people.

The following committees or teams were named to solicit subscriptions for this year's funds:

No. 1 Captain Ralph Jordan, Aide to be named.

No. 2 John Wood, Aide, Scott McKelvey.

No. 3 Captain, Harry Evans, Aide, Paul Maharty.

No. 4 Captain, F. Gurney Smith, Aide to be selected.

It was decided to set aside Monday and Tuesday forenoons on which to do the soliciting and the four teams will be up and at it on both these days.

Therefore when the team for your district hits you up Monday or Tuesday, be ye ready to do your share toward supplying play and playgrounds for our boys and girls that their thoughts and acts may be directed along right lines.

For illustration of the point we desire to make, we will say that the community party held at Reedsville, in the Second Ward, last evening was attended by more than three hundred people. The grounds were handsomely decorated and lighted by lamps made by the children under Community Service direction.

MANY STATES JOIN IN ASSAULT ON STEEL PRICE PLAN

Chicago, July 14.—Michigan, Indiana, Missouri, Nebraska, South Dakota and Colorado will be asked to join with Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota in the fight on the Pittsburgh "plus" system in the steel industry.

The plan of attack agreed upon is to convince the Federal Trade Commission that Pittsburgh "plus" violates either the Clayton Act or the Federal Trade Act, prevents development of steel resources of the west or places a discriminatory burden of millions of dollars upon western steel consumers.

European Heat Wave Takes Toll Of Sixty Lives In Holland

Amsterdam, July 14.—Sixty persons died in Holland from the effects of the terrific heat this week. Temperature throughout Europe averaged 92 degrees, most intense here and in London where it is hottest in twelve years.

Berlin suffered its hottest day of the summer on Friday.

Paris, July 14.—The day France celebrates "The Day of Glory" of the Marcellus is being celebrated temporarily today because of the terrific heat. The great parade that ordinarily features Bastille Day was cancelled.

Tens of thousands danced in the open air during the night and early hours of the morn and unofficial estimates say that over six million beers, to say nothing of wine, were consumed in the first day of the two-day fete.

Demented Patient KILLS PHYSICIAN IN PHILA. OFFICE

Philadelphia, Pa., July 14.—Dr. Benjamin A. Delmarco was shot to death in his office last night by Rosco Linsalate, 20 year old, a patient who suddenly became demented and charged that the physician was giving him medicine that aggravated rather than helped a nervous ailment, according to the police.

The youth then fled from the office, flourishing his gun at a crowd which had been attracted by the shots. He ran to his home and awaited the arrival of the police.

BOYS' ARM BROKEN

A sad and distressing accident, which resulted in the death of a little 4-year-old girl and the serious injury to a 6-year-old boy, occurred in the town of Houtzdale last evening about 6 o'clock.

The little victims were Louise Peron, aged 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Peron, and Harry Ganoce, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ganoce, of Houtzdale.

The accident occurred on Brisbin street. The children had been riding in a coaster wagon down the hill leading toward Whiteside. Chattering in childish glee they got on their wagon about 6 o'clock for one more dash down the hill onto the new state road which passes through the town. As they approached the road at the crossing, which is a particularly dangerous one, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schreffler, of Phillipsburg, drove along the state road in their Hudson car. The car and wagon reached the crossing about the same time, and on account of the character of the ground at the crossing it is thought neither the children nor the driver of the car saw each other until the little ones on their fatal joy ride dashed out onto the concrete road and ran directly into the passing automobile.

The wagon went under the wheels of the machine and with its little occupants was crushed to the road. The automobile was traveling at a very moderate rate of speed. Nevertheless the accident occurred so quickly that the driver was unable to stop his machine until it passed beyond the crossing and left the broken little bodies lying on the road behind it.

Both children were picked up unconscious and medical aid summoned at once. The little girl died almost instantly from internal injuries received, it is thought, by one of the wheels of the car passing over her body. Little Harry was more fortunate than his companion, but suffered a broken arm and painful cuts and bruises about the head and face.

The body of the little girl was taken in charge by Undertaker H. A. Sweeney, while the Ganoce lad was taken at once to the Cottage hospital at Phillipsburg, where, after a careful examination, the physician in charge gave it as his opinion that his injuries were not necessarily fatal, although the X-ray will be used in an attempt to determine their severity and possible extent.

The Schrefflers, who feel very keenly their unfortunate part in the sad affair, were exonerated of all blame by those who witnessed the happening, also the parents of the victims of the accident.

HEALTH CONDITION IN CLEARFIELD CONTINUES FINE

The records of Secretary Gaulin of the local Board of Health show that for the past seven days but four cases of communicable disease were reported to the Board of Health. Of these three were diphtheria and one was scarlet fever. During the same period the quarantine was lifted in three cases.

There are at present eleven cases of communicable disease under quarantine in the town. They are located as follows:

First Ward: Scarlet fever 2, diphtheria 1.

Second Ward: Scarlet fever 1, diphtheria 1, whooping cough 2.

Third Ward: Scarlet fever 1, diphtheria 2.

MARRY A FOOTBALL PLAYER TO GET PERFECT HUSBAND, SAY 3 SISTERS WHO DID

By NEA Service.
ATLANTA, Ga., July 14.—What kind of men make the best husbands?
Sometimes it takes a lifetime to find out, and even then there is doubt. But there is one Georgia family that is decided. Each of its three daughters unite in the answer:
"Football players make the best husbands."
For within six months the Misses Grace, Loretta and Ruth Jackson, belles in the younger southern social circles, married three stars of the Georgia Tech football team. Now they are respectively Mrs. Dewey Scarboro, Mrs. "Big Six" Carpenter and Mrs. "Daddy" Amis.
All of them are still honeymooning—the Carpenters in Florida, the Amises in California and the Scarboros in Atlanta.
"Sure enough," says Mrs. Scarboro, who has been married the longest of the three sisters, six months to be exact, "football players make the best husbands—though, of course, I've never tried any other kind of husband."
"You can always be sure that you've married a real man if you marry a man who has played through several seasons of football. For, if he wasn't a real man, he never would have stood the test."
She had often seen Scarboro on the gridiron. He was a hero popular with everyone.
Says Mrs. Scarboro: "But there never was a little voice whispering, 'Here's your future husband' when I first saw Dewey. I liked him, of course; everybody did."
Then they all went shopping.

MR. AND MRS. "DADDY" AMIS (LEFT), MR. AND MRS. "BIG SIX" CARPENTER (CENTER), AND MR. AND MRS. DEWEY SCARBORO

"There is nothing like camp life to get people acquainted with each other, is there?" says the young bride. "We lived in tents and cooked on an oil stove and swam and drove and had a wonderful time. It was there we fell in love."
"Then one day Dewey called me up and said: 'Let's get married today,' and said: 'All right.' And that's all there was to it."
Meanwhile football romances No. 2 and No. 3 were making rapid headway of their own. Loretta had fallen in love with "Big Six" Carpenter, Georgia Tech star of the class of '17; and Ruth had become engaged to "Daddy" Amis, member of last year's class.
"They planned a double wedding," explains their sister, "but they couldn't agree on what kind of wedding to have. One wanted a church wedding; the other a home wedding. Finally each had her own way."
"But we're all agreed good football players make good husbands."

LEGION WORKER HAS NO LEGS

State Adjutant of the Department of Idaho Does Not Allow Handicap to Interfere.

Handicapped? Lester F. Albert, state adjutant of the Department of Idaho of the American Legion, considers no physical disability an insurmountable obstacle. For this intrepid veteran of the World war, who at the battle of Cantigny lost both legs and suffered other serious wounds, has not faltered in performance of his work since his return to civilian life.

Albert, who was a lieutenant with Company C, 50th Engineers, was in action with the First French army at Cantigny in May, 1918. Two platoons of the company were under his command, as he was in charge of the Searchlight section. Their position was under the direct and heavy shell fire of the Germans during the night of May 17.

One of the German shells ended active service for Lieutenant Albert.

Lester F. Albert.

It shattered both his legs, tore off a finger of his right hand, and inflicted many severe body wounds. Only immediate surgical aid, followed by blood transfusion, was responsible for saving Albert's life.

After a long period in a government hospital at Fort Snelling, Minn., he returned to his home in Idaho, and took up his chosen work as an electrical engineer.

His activity in the organization of the American Legion, in Idaho brought him recognition from hundreds of ex-service men of the state and at the first annual convention he was named to the post of department adjutant. He has held this position since that time, and at the last convention was elected for a three-year period.

Mr. Albert's determination for rehabilitation in spite of the injury he suffered has won the admiration of Legionnaires all over the country. In noting the enthusiasm with which he carries on his work, the extent of the injury is never thought of. He considers that physical handicap will not thwart progress if determination is a factor in the fight against it.

DISABLED FELLOWS SHOW PEP

Legion Rehabilitation Officials Find Afflicted Men Make Good If Given Fair Chance.

It has always been the contention of American Legion rehabilitation officials that if the disabled man is given an equal start with those about him, the "vet" will come through with flying colors. This is borne out in many instances, but in perhaps none more clearly than at the North Dakota Agricultural college, where 100 Veterans' Bureau trainees are in attendance.

Names of five of these ex-soldiers were on the honor roll of the school when it was announced, a proportion of approximately 20 per cent of the total number of trainees enrolled as against 1 per cent of the other students who succeeded in making the honor grades. The average grade of these five veteran students was 92.6 per cent for the quarter.

The veterans are also active in campus affairs. Every officer elected at a meeting of the Draftsmen and Builders club at the college was a trainee. Burton Olekirk, a trainee, won outstanding honors as a judge of live stock when he was a member of the college team at the National Live Stock show at Chicago in competition with teams representing the other schools.

Harry Eckman, an ex-service student at the School of Agriculture of Minnesota, has won a medal for excellence in judging in competition with a large class of other live-stock students.

Legion Band and Drum Corps.

American Legion bands and drum corps are getting to be the common thing in Minnesota cities. Recently Northfield, Hutchinson and Red Wing Legion bands formed the corps, and recently the Pine City post took over the home town band. Legion musical organizations already existed at Duluth, Rochester, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Silver Lake and a number of other places.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

We are going to be a little more careful in future, after noting what happened Thursday evening down at Boyle's Thirty Acres. We've been thinking we're as "good" now as we ever was but guess there's some change after 40. Our chest measure shrank four inches after we learned of poor old Japs's downfall. We are now too proud to fight.

Adam Thompson of Cincinnati was the first man in the United States to use a bath tub. This was on December 20, 1842.

The installation of the bath tub in Mr. Thompson's home, and the actual use of it for bathing in winter, caused widespread publicity, and the newspapers devoted their columns to violent discussion of it. Certain patriots stated that this type of bathing was a degenerate luxury, designed to corrupt the democratic simplicity of the republic. The medical fraternity denounced it as "dangerous to health and bound to result in phthisis, rheumatic fevers, inflammation of the lungs and the whole category of zymotic diseases." Legislation reflected the common feeling.

The Philadelphia common council, late in 1843, considered an ordinance prohibiting bathing between November 1 and March 15, and it failed of passage by only two votes. During the same year the legislature of Virginia laid a tax of $30 a year on all bath tubs. Boston, early in 1845, made bathing unlawful except upon medical advice, but the ordinance was never enforced and in 1862 it was repealed.

President Millard Fillmore installed the first bath tub in the White House in 1851. This action broke down practically all prejudice, with the result that by 1860 every hotel in New York had one bath tub, and some had two and even three.

The old idea that "three score years and ten" is the normal span of life was scotched by Dr. Leonard Williams, famous London specialist, in a lecture on "Physiological Efficiency" to the Aldwych Club London.

Dr. Williams maintained that man, if he paid the necessary attention to dietary and health laws, ought to live to 140 or 150 years.

"There is nothing inevitable about illness," he said. "If we get a disease we ought not to be pitied as victims, but condemned as fools."

"If the average age of the lower animals were estimated in relation to the time that it took to arrive at maturity," Williams continued, "man is seen at a disadvantage. Animals' instincts in regard to food are increasing, while the human mind is becoming blurred and fogged."

"Mankind is content with three score years and ten because it is, in matters physiological, content with a very low level of mediocrity. It has no ideas for which it is prepared to make sacrifices and will not deny itself needless luxuries and soft comforts."

"When a man arrives at maturity it is up to him to keep that maturity as long as he can. Instead of doing so, however, he sits down and impairs his efficiency as quickly as possible by sending out appeals to every microbe to come and take up residence in his body."

Physiological efficiency goes back to the question of diet. The world should partake of meagre fare, fresh air and all kinds of raw food," he concluded.

Lord Rayleigh, noted English scientist, recently gave the earth an age of two or three billion years in an interesting discussion from the point of view of the various sciences contained in a report of the Smithsonian Institution, just issued. Geologists have frequently estimated the age of the earth to be from ten to two hundred million years, but Lord Rayleigh, from a study of the rate of decomposition of the radio elements, makes his deduction that the earth's crust has been habitable for nearly three billion years.

Sense of Humor.

A sense of humor is a very fine thing. It lifts one over life's rough places as it were, with a leap and a bound, and lands one in safety on the farther bank of the swollen and threatening stream. You keep young if you possess it; the twinkle in your eye is a sign that old age is far from you yet, whatever your years may be. All the same, a sense of humor is a gift which must be displayed with discretion. The trouble is that, with most of us, it stops working when we need it most—that is, when things go wrong with our own affairs. The man who can smile when this happens is a hero.—Philadelphia Rev.

HOUTZDALE CITIZEN DIES

Michael Gorman, aged about 47 years, and a brother of Postmaster John Gorman, of Houtzdale, passed away last evening at the Cottage State hospital at Philipsburg, where he had been a patient for a short time, as the result of an attack of mine's asthma.

The deceased, who followed er mining, was a life-long resident of Houtzdale. He was an industrious man, above the average in intelligence, and was well posted on public men and affairs.

He is survived by his aged father, two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Zeigler and Miss Anna Gorman, and three brothers, John, James and Thomas, all of Houtzdale.

One windy day my brother, Eben, was having quite a bit of trouble trying to keep his hat on his head. Finally he said, "Any sister, has the wind got a head, too?" I replied, "No, why do you ask that?" Then he said, "Well, then why does he always want to take my hat?"

Easton Pa. July 12.—President Judge Stewart of the Northampton County Courts today filed three opinions disposing of questions arising out of the Pinchot enforcement act. These cases are believed to be the first decided under that act, but a number of judges held differently under the Woner act.

Judge Stewart held as legal the search of an automobile on the highway and the confiscation of liquor found therein and the automobile by the state police. The court held that even if the officers had raised the blanket of the automobile and discovered liquor it could not be construed as "an unreasonable search," that it was perfectly lawful, under the automobile act, for a state policeman to stop any automobile and demand to see the driver's license and that if the officer then saw liquor, he had a right to arrest the driver, seize the liquor and his automobile without any warrant.

Liberal Construction Taken
The court further held that "the states, having ratified the Eighteenth amendment, and the Legislature having passed the Pinchot enforcement act, courts must recognize that most of the law violations were due to the use of automobiles and motorboats, and that it was the duty of the courts to aid in the enforcement of the Pinchot act by constructing its provisions liberally and not strictly."

It was the duty of every officer, when he discovered a violation of the act, to at once arrest the offender and seize his property without any warrant, but the word "discovered" meant that the officer must see the violation of the act; that an officer had no right to stop an automobile on the chance that it was transporting liquor.

No Exemption for "Flavors"

In the case of a hotelkeeper whose place was raided and a small quantity of cider and gin found, the court held that no exception was found in the law in favor of the use of liquor for flavoring purposes in a hotel. Rule for the return of the liquor was discharged.

In the case of a private house entered on a search warrant, such as is used in locating stolen goods, the seizure of liquor therein was found to be illegal, as "under the Pinchot enforcement act, no warrant could be issued to search any private dwelling house occupied as such unless it was used for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor."

The court directed the District Attorney to return the articles seized under the illegal warrant.

A decade ago dollar wheat was the hope of the farmer. For that it would have been profitable to grow the cereal. At the prices which then prevailed for labor and the things which the farmer had to purchase, dollar wheat would have given the farmer a margin over cost. But dollar wheat in those days before the war most times was something to be desired but not realized. Now dollar wheat—less on the farm—is here and threatening ruin. Conditions on the farm are different from what prevails when dollar wheat was a hope of better times. At the farmers wheat declines in price to pre-war levels, what he has to buy remains at or near wartime heights. Wheat now is lower than at any time since before the war and there is not much prospect that it will go higher soon. That means that wheat growers will have less money to spend and the class of which they are a part is the largest engaged in a single occupation. This cannot fail to affect other business. Realization of this may be delayed for a time but the disparity in prices cannot continue indefinitely.

Yet, the low price of wheat may force its own cure. It may drive farmers to reduce acreage and substitution of other crops, though what could be substituted may present a problem. Patent nostrums are recommended but such had better be avoided. They cannot cure a fundamental condition—more wheat than the consumption demands. The situation is especially severe in the regions where wheat is the one crop. It is far less severe where there is diversity in farming, thus indicating the perils of adhering to one crop and the greater safety in diversity. All the eggs in one basket may mean ruin. Less loss may be met in separating them.

LITTLE GIRL SUFFERS BROKEN ARM IN FALL

Little Betty Wise, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wise, of Olanta, had both bones of her right arm broken just above the wrist yesterday when she fell from a swing at her home. She was brought to the Clearfield hospital, where an X-ray picture was taken and the fractured member set by Dr. Wilson. Although the injury was very painful, the young lady was able to return to her home yesterday evening and with good luck hopes to be about as usual in a short time. The swing, which was being pushed by a playmate, was at a considerable height when Miss Betty took her tumble and it is considered remarkable that she escaped much more serious injury.

Launce E. Soult returned from the Dickinson summer school of religious education at Carlisle, Pa., yesterday.

Political Paragraphs

ODELL HAUSEN'S COLUMN

The present week ends a month, though there is nothing on the calendars to show it. That is probably because this is a political month and calendars are strictly non-partisan. It is the thirty-day period allowed by the constitution after the final adjournment of a legislative session during which the Governor may browse over the bills left on his hands at its end. If he acts on them, well and good. If he fails to act, they become law without his interposition.

Wherever our worthy Governor, quite in keeping with precedent, has been burning the midnight oil. As to these bills, he must make up his mind at once, or else keep silent for evermore.

The appropriation bills are giving the most trouble, which is also quite in accord with precedent. The Governor got his general appropriation bill out of the way last week, as has been duly recorded in these paragraphs. But he still has many appropriation bills before him, the ones relating to charitable institutions and hospitals constituting the most important, all things considered.

Mr. Pinchot has given practically everything else up during the week to devote himself to a consideration of these bills and the some four hundred others that lay on his desk when Monday came.

And it now appears he has struck a snag in connection with them. There are two schools of thought on the question of how much revenue the state may expect during the next two years on the basis of taxes now in force. It is really a guessing contest between Auditor General Lewis and Dr. Clyde L. Long, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

And of course the accuracy of their guesses is highly important. It is the groundwork of all the Governor has before him. He must finally come to some conclusion as to what the revenue will be and then cut the appropriations proposed by the General Assembly until they come within that sum. (Incidentally, let those who think we have a budget system in Pennsylvania reflect on that latter fact.)

Neither the Governor nor anyone else seems to be able to arrive with any confidence at a figure. Auditor General Lewis is an optimist and Dr. King is a pessimist on the subject. Mr. Lewis paints a glowing picture where moral is there is no way to prevent at least $130,000,000 from flowing into the coffers of the state during the next two years. Dr. King says: "Not so good!"

The great element of uncertainty is the new profits tax. Here Mr. Lewis and Dr. King reverse roles. It is Mr. Lewis who is the pessimist and Dr. King the optimist. The Auditor General just throws his hands in the air when he is asked about that tax. He will not estimate on it at all and it is not included in his $130,000,000 estimate.

Dr. King will go a little further than that, but he will not go as far as did the General Assembly. The law-makers thought the tax would be worth $12,000,000. But the budget officer has now made up his mind that it will not show a total of $10,000,000 in receipts.

The uncertainty involved in such differences of opinion illustrates what difficulty the Governor is in. His, in the end, will be the responsibility. And it lies more heavily on him than on some other governors, for from the very beginning one of the things he has insisted on has been that he would approve no appropriations in excess of the state's reasonable expectation of revenue.

This is his dilemma: if he takes the higher estimates of Diakka an Evil Spirit.

Diakka is a very evil and powerful spirit corresponding in some respects with the Jinn. In Mohammedan mythology the Jinn are good and bad spirits who assume the form of mythical giants, etc. In this same mythology there are also the Janms, or demons of the lowest order. On old Persian tales they are referred to as the Ahrim and Longfellow, in his "Golden Mile stone" (stanza 2), refers to them as belonging to Arabian story—Literary Digest.

The Test of Acquaintance.

"It isn't length of acquaintance that counts with people—it's sudden tests—and being able to speak the same language—occasionally, even. Some people you can go on talking to a year and never know them all, because they don't say a single thing that seems true to you, at all they look at you as though you were mad and when you speak your real thoughts about anything." — From "The Incoming Tide," by Janet Maitland

Progress Editorial For Women

VARIETIES OF SUCCESS

By Florence Davies

It's easy enough to write success rules. But it's quite another thing to succeed. Even some of the successful men may be deluding themselves. Their success lies in themselves, in a combination of forces and qualities which who tell you how they have done it can not be described or taught to another.

For instance, one successful man says that he has succeeded because he starts every day with a clean slate. There is no overlapping of jobs he says.

Isn't that beautiful? Suppose we suggest that successful rule to the mothers of the land. How they would laugh.

Suppose we even suggest it to the housekeepers of the land.

"That's fine," they would say "Every day a fresh beginning". So it can be in the kingdom of the mind, and so it should be. But to have no jobs overlap? Will the successful gentleman who proposes that plan just try running a house for six youngsters and a husband, darning socks and finishing the ironing, making jam, and baking cakes, cleaning the china cabinet and taking Willie to the doctor, starting a dress for Sam and stopping to add a little water to the pot roast?

I'm thinking a job or two might overlap. It sort of seems, in fact, that for a woman like that, her whole life is just one long job that keeps right on lapping over from one day to the next, and that the courage to keep right on keeping on at an endlessly overlapping job is about all she needs to spell success.

It's fine for the millionaires, if they manage to find success so simple. We

Valuable Gum Mines.

Probably the only gum mines in the world are in New Zealand, where there is a whole district in which fossilized gum from trees that died centuries ago is found a few feet below the surface. The substance is valuable for it makes the best kind of transparent varnish, and many fortunes have been made by men who have worked it.

every-day women folks can't write it quite that way.

Finishing one job before you begin another, clearing your desk every day, starting every day with a fresh blotter, is all so very neat. If only life arranged itself like that it wouldn't be much of a job to live successfully. But housekeeping, at least, has a way of keeping right on. It doesn't make convenient little stopping places for itself.

That's why a woman must learn to make them for herself, in spite of her 24-hour job.

Unfortunately the housekeeper and mother can't start each day with a clean slate. There will be many leftover overlapping jobs, many 24-hour puzzling problems, many instant responsibilities.

But she can learn to make her own stopping places. And if she is to be truly successful she must learn to. She must learn when to say, "That job is not done, but it must wait. The next hour is for me."

If she does this, she will find success even though it isn't as easily made as that prescribed by the millionaires.

"Over The Hill" will be the attraction at the Driggs Theatre Monday and Tuesday. It's a real story told in a homey way. 7:15:2c

Why The Rush?

One of the master tricks of the glib salesman of blue sky stock is to enthuse the prospect with a glittering one-sided story and then rush an immediate sale before the prospect has an opportunity for thorough investigation.

"We welcome investigation," says he, "BUT a person of your intelligence can see that this is an exceptional opportunity. The stock is limited and liable to be oversubscribed at any time, then too, the price will shortly be increased."

Why the Rush? If his stock was that good, he WOULD NOT HAVE TO PEDDLE IT. Don't let him stampede you.

LESSON FOR JULY 15

SIMON PETER

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 16:13-18;
John 21:15-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Lord, Thou knowest
all things; Thou knowest that I love
Thee."—John 21:17.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—John
13:42; John 18:6-11; 20:1-10; 21:1-23;
Acts 2:1-5.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Peter, the Helper
of Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Leader of the Twelve.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—
Peter's Failures and Successes.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—
Peter's Weakness and Strength.

I. His Name. (John 1:42).
The name which he bore when induced to Christ was Simon, which means "hearing." But Jesus gave him
a new name—"Peter," which means
"rock." This showed what he was to become.

II. His Call. (John 1:41, 42).
His brother Andrew brought him to Christ. This brought him into fellowship with the Lord. From ordinary discipleship he was called to special ministry (Luke 5:10). From being a fisherman he was called to catch men.

III. Peter's Character.
1. Sincere. What Peter was at heart could be read on his face. He was free from duplicity. People could understand him. Because of this characteristic they could tell when he was lying. Yet even when people knew he was in error they could believe in him. He seems to have been
ignorant of the word "diplomacy."

2. Prompt. He had the ability to decide and act quickly, as the occasion
demanded. This made him a real leader. His action at the empty tomb
was an example of his promptitude.
John outran Peter, but Peter was the first to enter the tomb. When Cornelius sent for him at Joppa he responded without delay.

3. Courageous. While Peter played
the coward sometimes, he was for the most part a brave man. No doubt it was through courage that he joined the Lord, but it was his courage that brought him to follow the Lord into
the palace of the high priest.

4. Intense. He felt deeply, and acted with vigor. Whether right or wrong, what he did he did with all his might. When he preached it was with passion. No finer example of burning eloquence can be found than
his Pentecostal sermon.

IV. Peter's Confession of Christ
(Matt. 16:13-19).
The disciples had been with the Lord for several years. They had heard His mighty words and seen His mighty works. Various opinions were extant about Him. It was now necessary for them to have a definite conception of Him. The Master-Teacher
knew the necessity of having the disciples get the right conception of Himself.

1. What It Was (v. 16). It involved
His Messiahship—"The Christ," and deity—"Son of the living God." This is the burning question today. Those who have the right conception of Christ's person and mission have no
trouble in the realms of science, philosophy or ethics.

2. Christ's Commendation (v. 17).
He pronounced him blessed. Truly he was blessed, for he both possessed and confessed the Christ. The evidence that Peter was blessed was that he was in spiritual touch with the Father
in Heaven.

3. Peter's Blessing (v. 18). Christ
declared that he should be the foundation stone in His church. Christ is the chief cornerstone on which the church
is built. Christ's person and Messian-ship was confessed by Peter, and on this rock he laid the foundation of apostles and prophets (Eph. 2:20).
All believers are living stones of this house (1 Peter 2:5).

V. Peter's Restoration (John 21:15-17).
Peter grievously sinned in denying
the Lord, but he made a confession,
shedding bitter tears of penitence over his sin and folly. The Lord tenderly dealt with His erring disciple and restored him. In this restoration He brought to Peter's mind the essential qualification for his ministry. Love is the pre-eminent gift for Christ's service. To impress this upon him, he
three times asked the question, "Lovest
thou me?" Three chances of proof were to be served: (1) Those beginning the Christian life—"Feed my lambs." (2) The mature Christians
—"Shepherd my sheep." The shepherd
needs to protect and feed the sheep.
Love is the one essential equipment
for this service. (3) The aged Christians—"Feed my sheep." Love is needed in dealing with the fathers and mothers in Israel.

17).

CLEARFIELDER WEDS

ASHTABULA, OHIO, GIRL

Miss Grace Redmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Redmond, of Ashtabula and Mr. Edgar L. Cox, son of W. D. Cox of Clearfield, were united in marriage by Rev. C. A. Dowell of the St. Peter's Episcopal church, Ashtabula, Wednesday July 11, 1923, at 7 p. m.

The bride was beautifully gowned in a peach colored tulle and was unattended.

The bride's relatives and friends of the bride were in attendance at the wedding ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox left for a short wedding trip and upon their return will make their home in Clearfield.

Mrs. Cox is a talented and popular young lady of Ashtabula. She has participated in a large number of local theatricals and is well known for her clever dancing ability. She has for the past few months been employed with the High company in Cleveland.

MARRIED AT CUMBER-

LAND, MD.

Oscar Demar Carns and Ruth Lola Straw, Clearfield young people, were married at Cumberland, Md., yesterday.

FIRPO KNOCKS OUT WILLARD

Extraordinary photograph, taken under the difficult conditions of night, shows Jess Willard, former world's heavyweight champion, taking the count of ten at the hands of Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine giant, in the eighth round of a battle staged at Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, N. J. One hundred thousand people saw Firpo knock out Willard with a right to the jaw. Picture shows Willard on one knee as Referee Harry Lewis counted him out.

An unusual picture, taken at night, showing the crouching attack of Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavyweight, landing on Jess Willard just before he put over the right to the jaw that knocked out the American in the eighth round. A record crowd, in Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, N. J., saw Firpo win and pave the way for a fight with Jack Dempsey for the world's championship.

PLAYGROUND NEWS

The horseshoe game on the playgrounds is coming on in good shape. Shugrue and Clifford Beahan of Witmer Park went to East End on Saturday losing to Charles Aikie and Earl Delaney 3 to 2.

Gordon Warner and Merl Davis of Reedsville played Vaughn Broadbeck and Gerald Gross on the West Side court losing 4-1.

The interplayground base ball game yesterday afternoon with only one of the two scheduled games. Witmer Park went to Reedsville taking the game 29-3. The matter of age and size limit for the league is a hard one to decide. If the boys in one part of town who are willing to stand by and uphold their ward are bigger than from another, the ones who are getting the worst of it will have to rally around and save their team. It would scarcely be fair to put a big boy off his team because he is of his size in the opposing ward cause loss for the credit of their team then he. There is plenty of base ball material in Reedsville that should report to Manager Gordon Warner who is putting in a lot of hard work trying to get up a good line of defense. The return game with Witmer Park comes next Friday so it is up to the Second Ward to strengthen their team before then.

Something was seriously wrong with the East End team—West Side sat and waited for a non appearing foe for most of the afternoon. The two managers, Lee Confer and Reid Passmore are getting together to arrange a game so as to avoid the inevitable forfeit.

WATCH REPAIRING IS IMPORTANT WORK

There are so many things that enter into the repair of a watch, so many little things that might be done wrong, that I give my personal supervision to every piece of work that is done here.

Thus I am assured that when I tell you that your watch is repaired, I KNOW that it is repaired right and that it will keep the sort of time that you expect to keep.

DRINK MORE MILK AND DO MORE WORK

This applies to the one who does either brain or brawn work. The make-up of the milk we deliver to your home is such that you get every necessary food ingredient for the sustenance of brain and body.

Then, too, there are lots of the vitamins about which you hear every day from your magazines and which are a large factor in your well being.

Make it a practice to drink at least a quart of milk a day and see how quickly you are feeling better as you do more work.

IDAHO VILLAGES SUFFER HEAVILY BY MANY FIRES

Bozeman, Wash., July 13.—The mining towns of Mace and Burke, east of Kellogg, Idaho, are reported destroyed by forest fires sweeping up the western slope of the Bitter Root mountains.

While communication with the fire-swept district is down. Fear is felt for the lives of tourists on the Yellowstone Trail Highway, which is understood from men's reports to be in the path of the flames.

A thousand persons are reported homeless in the two towns. Mace is destroyed. The business section of Burke is in flames and little hope is saving what remains of the town.

The loss at 4 p. m. was estimated between $300,000 and $400,000 and the progress of the fire is said to be unchecked.

Attempts to block the fire by dynamiting homes, business houses and work in the Washburn coal mine, I think he may lose one finger.

Work on the state road is proceeding nicely. Next week ought to see the finishing of the concrete work.

Miss Mary Wheeling visited relatives in Clearfield on Thursday.

mine structures proved futile because of the high wind.

With the business section of Burke completely gone and a large portion of the residential section burning, fire fighting efforts at 4:30 p. m. centered a short distance up the canyon from Burke, where the large hotel of the Hecla Mining Company, together with the mine's recreational center, was threatened.

All members of the rich silver-lead mines of the district, estimated at several thousand, have turned to fighting the fire.

Wallace, Idaho, July 14.—A hundred persons are homeless and prop-

The entire business section and practically all the residence districts were wiped out. DENTISTRY

Not many years have passed since the great fact was established that you can't have good health without good teeth. While the Dentist has labored many years to educate the people as to the truth of this fact, it has taken science and such celebrated medical men as Dr. Charles Mayo, and many others, to endorse the Dentist and establish him in an entirely new place in protecting human life. And the only way the Dentist can make strong men and women, who will grow old gradually and gracefully, with full measure of health and strength on the road, is by starting the care of the teeth while the children are young, and to teach them the great importance of good teeth to good health.

Dentistry is beyond question part of the healing art, for the teeth are the cause of fifty per cent of the ills of the human system.

The American Dentist is looked upon as the leader in the field of Dentistry and he is trying to teach the important fact that an unhealthy mouth is the cause of many ills that can be avoided, and that modern Dentistry now holds that preventing of tooth decay is more important than its healing. Remember that the great secret of good health is good food, well prepared and divided so as to contain all the nutritious principles necessary to nourish the system, good teeth so that one can masticate, clean mouth to prevent infection.

Focal infection may be caused by any tooth in your mouth. A dead pulp or nerve may lay dormant for many years, but the puss that is generated at the end of a root is absorbed by the blood and circulated through the entire system, causing most organic troubles. We cannot prevent all mouth infection but we can prevent most of it by curing the abscesses and putting your mouth in a sanitary condition.

I have resumed the practice of my profession and am ready and well equipped to do all up-to-date dental work at your home, your store, your factory, your farm, and in any part of town or county. I will not have a regular office, but will make my office wherever I am called, giving everybody a good opportunity to attend to their dental needs.

My phone call is H. & C. 323-J-3, or you can drop me a card or letter and I will give appointments in rotations.

Soliciting the patronage of all my former patients and any new ones who wish to call me, Yours for good Dentistry and good Health,

DR. J. L. R. HEICHHOLD

On the other hand, if he takes the lower estimates as correct and vetoes a lot of the appropriations, only to find in the end that pessimistic viewpoints were at fault, he will be in the position of having offended many persons and curtailed necessary public work on grounds of economy when there is really plenty of money lying around in the state treasury dressed up and no place to go.

The problem is bad enough when considered from the point of view of revenue to be derived from the taxation system as it exists at present. But there are also among the bills awaiting action by the Governor several which would change the taxation system in important particulars.

For instance, there is a bill of Representative Ludlow which would exempt charitable institutions from the provisions of the collateral inheritance tax. The Governor's attorney general is said to favor it. Yet if the Governor makes it law, the state will lose about $1,000,000 it has been accustomed getting from this source.

Then the question of what the appropriation liability inherited from previous administrations actually proves interesting. Mr. Lewis places it at $27,000,000 and says $1,000,000 of that can be allowed to lapse. Dr. King, on the other hand, stands resolutely by the figure of $29,000,000 he caused be inserted in the budget to cover this subject.

The anthracite coal tax has its complications, too. The assembly passed a bill of Senator Davis which restores to the anthracite counties a part of the money paid in coal taxes. The Governor approves it, a good slice of the revenue he had ked upon to meet general appropriations will be gone.

Residents of the anthracite counties have made strenuous efforts to get Mr. Pinchot to approve the bill. A formidable delegation came to urge it upon him personally. His attitude has been somewhat discouraging, but the hard coal people are pining for a favorable verdict because they know the Governor fully conversant with the bad conditions that prevail on account of mine caves.

Owing to the Governor's absorption in appropriation matters, very little has been done during the week in connection with the re-organization of the state government, which is a primary interest among politicians. Nor has the Governor announced any appointments of importance, not even of the board of Registration Commissioners in Philadelphia, though the terms expired during the week and the subject is a hot one among the embattled hosts preparing for the hostilities of a mayoralty campaign.

However if the Governor has not done much about re-organization there are others who have. The two "constitution-state officials" who were considered banged over the knuckles when Mr. Pinchot wielded his veto pen on the appropriation bill, have told the world what they propose to do.

Secretary of Internal Affairs Woodward has started to put a cloth to the new pattern by abandoning some of his activities and appealing to business organizations to do some of the work that was formerly done under the aegis of the state's yroll.

Treasurer Snyder, on the other hand, refuses to let himself be bothered. In a statement bristling with the same kind of attack he has previously made on the Governor, he announces that he is not going to dismiss any of his employees. His plan is to go right on with his present force until all the money appropriated for their salaries is gone, and then run the office as best he can with those few employees whose duties and salaries are prescribed by statute.

In the meantime some of the Governor's appointees are expediting the work of cutting heads off. This week a half dozen political lieutenants, including Senator Leslie of Pittsburgh, administration foe, were separated from their jobs.

In another instance there was apparently progress too rapid to suit the Governor's fancy. Secretary of Agriculture Willets dismissed several employees, among them Dr. J. G. Sanders, a bureau head. Dr. Sanders was an old friend of the Governor's from Roosevelt days and saw him about his dismissal. One result of the interview, at least, was an order by the Governor that future dismissals should not be summary, but that ample notice should be given.

It is now believed that the evidences of reorganization, exemplified by the dropping of the "one place" wholesale, will not come until well into August. The Reorganization Board constituted under the new law has not met with the Governor this week because he has been too busy. It is also said a standardization of salaries plan will be worked out before anything is done.

So for the present at least we shall have peace. The period may be used for rearing up and strengthening nerves, because when the real battle begins the moans of the wounded and the shrieks of the dying on the Harrisburg battlefield will be calculated to throw the most hardened out of gear.

PAIGE THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR IN AMERICA

3000 miles of care-free comfort

Has owned four cars costing more than Paige, but never one so delightful

Mr. H. M. Jewett, President, Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co., Detroit, Michigan.

Dear Mr. Jewett:

As requested in your letter of June 4, I am glad to write you more about my trip which you are at liberty to use for advertising. Not making any personal publicity, I would prefer that it be published without my name.

I have always driven cars costing considerably more than the Paige, feeling that the best was none too good for the kind of touring I like to do. Naturally, it was with some misgivings that I undertook my first trip in your car, with which I felt unfamiliar. Also, I have never used an enclosed car for touring before, and I expected it to be a little weak on hill climbing, as well as a little top-heavy on the road.

Starting without great confidence in the car because of its moderate price and because of my unfamiliarity with it, I was of course always looking for some kind of trouble to develop. From that point of view, my trip was a continual series of disappointments. I have had no trouble except what was due to my own carelessness, and might have occurred to the most careless car I could buy.

This seems a good place to say that one of the things I very much appreciate about the Paige is the high character of its representatives and their eagerness to see that all Paige cars satisfy their owners, regardless of whether they sold them. I was also surprised at their moderate charges for various odd jobs, for which I have been accustomed to paying more.

But to tell you more about my trip, I am enclosing a map on which I have marked it. The roads are boulevards practically everywhere, except where I found repair, wagons had not reached holes made by the severe winter weather, and some places where construction was under way. But it is in just such unfavorable road conditions that my Paige showed one of its fine advantages. It means something to me now that the Paigerears springs are more than five feet long, and that it has 131 inches of wheelbase. I can truthfully say I have never driven more comfortably and handled more easily on difficult roads.

There are big and fairly steep grades in the Cumberland Mountains, White Mountains, and the Adirondacks, all of which I went through. I am pleased to tell you that your claims about Paige hill climbing in high gear are true. Except when some sharp turn or cars ahead in the road made slowing down necessary, I practically never dropped into second speed. And on the down grades, where one frequently gets going a little too fast, I can truly say the car changed me on the score of ease in changing into second, when going 25 or 30 miles an hour. I have been accustomed to using the scheme of spinning up the gears by letting in the clutch momentarily, but I found this not at all necessary with the Paige. My wife drove a large part of the trip with great enjoyment and without noticeable tilting. She joins me in my praise of Paige handling ease.

I don't know whether you will be interested in hearing my point of view on enclosed bodies, but I can tell you I am sold on them for touring, as well as for city work, after my experience. We drove two whole days with the automatic windshield wiper going all the time—on other days into dust clouds, or cold winds in the mountains. And the pleasure of being able to regulate one's own comfort by merely turning a wind-down-handle, as one that I never appreciated before as I did in your Paige Brougham. Contrary to my expectations, the car is not hot in warm weather.

Perhaps I should close my letter by saying that the Paige is a far finer car than I ever imagined it to be. In fact, it is more comfortable to ride in, and easier to handle than any higher priced car I know of. If your car were better known for what it actually is, I am sure far more of them would be sold to people who have been accustomed to paying $3000 to $4000 for a touring car. Very truly yours,

A TRAVELLING DENTIST

Dr. J. L. R. Reichhold, of Clearfield, who has been a dental practitioner here for many years, is proving that old Dr. Osler was all wrong. For the past couple of years the Doctor has been building himself a mighty fine home on Old Town Road and now that the job is done is again turning his attention to his professional work. He is going at it from a new angle. His equipment is a nifty automobile coupe, a kit of tools, packed for connecting to an electric light socket or foot treadle and years of experience. He will call at the home, the office or the store and make "dining room furniture" repairs at your convenience.

Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Other Mothers

Windom, Minn.—"I was so run-down that I was just good for nothing. I was the mother of my ninth child, and I thought I did not have the strength to go through with it. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has surely done all I could ask it to do and I am telling all my friends about it. I have a nice big baby girl and am feeling fine. You may use this letter to help other sick mothers."—Mrs. C. A. MOORE, Box 634, Windom, Minn.

My First Child
Glen Allen, Alabama.—"I have been greatly benefited by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for bearing-down feelings and pains. I was troubled in this way for nearly four years following the birth of my first child, and at times could hardly stand on my feet. A neighbor recommended the Vegetable Compound to me after I had taken doctor's medicines without much benefit. It has relieved my pains and gives me strength. I recommend it and give you permission to use my testimonial letter."—Mrs. L. A. RYE, Glen Allen, Alabama.

Freak Lightning Stroke

There is an instance on record of a couple of men who were traveling in the Yoncos mountains. They rushed for trees to escape the pelting driving rain. A stroke of lightning knocked him senseless and it was thought or they imagined that they were dead. The best attention and care were given them, and they survived, but on the back of each, extending to the thighs, was one lacerated leaf of a lime tree.

COASTING ON CONCRETE ROAD FATAL TO LITTLE HOUTZDALE GIRL

GERMANY ACCEPTS FULL LIABILITY ON THE LUSITANIA

Washington, July 14.—The German Government has admitted to the United States that it accepts full liability for the U. boat sinking of the great liner Lusitania, the incident which was largely responsible for America's entrance into the world war.

Admission of full liability has been made by the German representative before the Mixed Claims Commission meeting here to adjust all American war claims against the former enemy.

WOODSMAN PINCHOT SPARES NO TREES IN VETO SLASH

Harrisburg, Pa. July 14.—Governor Pinchot took off his coat today and waded relentlessly into legislation that he must sign or veto before midnight.

With the charitable appropriations policy disposed of the Governor turned his attention to bills of vital importance to the various local communities.

The Governor vetoed the Amnibus Road Bill. This bill would have added 725 miles of highway to the present road system. Another vetoed was that which would have permitted a two million mortgage on State College for improvements.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 14.—Lack of sufficient revenue was also given for the veto of the $300,000 appropriation for purchase of a site for the new eastern penitentiary.

Approval was given for improvements to the Rockview Penitentiary after it had been cut from $450,000 to $246,000.

The bill providing for road improvements in Valley Forge Park was vetoed.

Four of Senator Clarke's bills affecting anthracite and bituminous mine inspectors were vetoed because of inconsistencies with the administrative code.

The two departments of labor and industry bills, providing a fee system for inspection of boilers and elevators of the state were approved. These bills provide estimated revenue of $2,000,000 from this source not counted by the Auditor General's figures.

The Lynch Bill providing for a commission to investigate conditions of disabled world war veterans was signed.

One of the McDade bills, equalizing the sexes was likewise signed, giving married women the same rights as men whether living apart from their husbands or not.

The Ludlow Bill exempting appropriation to assist blind students was approved.

The Governor also approved the bill fixing the salaries of the Auditor General and State Treasurer.

Many of the Governor's vetoes were on account of conflict with the code. Two of Senator Smith's bills were vetoed on this account.

The Ludlow Bill exempting charities from the inheritance tax was vetoed. This would have cut off approximately $4,000,000 in revenue according to the Auditor General.

Had the bill become law, the Governor said: "Would have reduced the revenue of the state for the next two years."

Harrisburg, Pa., July 14.—The Governor disapproved the bills increasing the limit of salaries for members of courts in this class from $3,000 to $4,500.

The Berntheizer Bill, providing

CASH FOR GENIUS

Quarter Million Dollar Fund to Aid Amiteus Boys

By NEA Service.

PASSAIC, N. J., July 14.—Can cash bring out genius? Can money stimulate ambition? Julius Forstmann, wealthy philanthropist, and his wife wanted to find out. So they set aside a fund of $250,000 to assist the youth of the country "to attain to a large measure of self-realization and social usefulness."

And now they are swamped with applicants. So great has the rush become that a special office has been opened with a large corps of workers to handle the claims.

Boys who want to get an education and can't afford it, men who have a pet invention but no money to put it over, visionaries who would rearrange the world, if only they had the chance—are all striving to get their share of the fund.

Back of it all is the memory of a boy who died when he was 18. Carl Forstmann was the son of the philanthropist, a millionaire textile manufacturer here, and it is to his memory that the fund has been named the Carl Forstmann Memorial Foundation.

"The fund is not an endowment with only the interest available," says Forstmann. "It is a working capital every last cent of which will be used. Neither will it be limited necessarily to $250,000."

"I want to assist boys and young men who are hampered by financial circumstances to attain their ambitions. If they have ability and character I believe I can help them. At the same time I want to perpetuate the influence for intelligence, integrity and industry which would have been my son's had he been permitted to live."

Grants, according to the Forstmann plan, may be either awards or loans. A committee of representative business men and a pastor has been appointed which will expend the money for "education or training of any grade, degree or kind; the prosecution of useful experimentation and research; physical correction and rehabilitation; the realization of any particularly worthy ambition, which, with assistance, offers a strong likelihood of success."

LUMBER CITY MOTHER OF 5 KILLS SELF

MRS. GROVER HIPPS DIES SHORTLY AFTER DRINKING COFFEE IN WHICH SHE HAD PUT DOSE OF STRYCHNINE

Prepared and Sat Down to Breakfast With Her Husband at Six o'Clock; Fell Over Ill, Bottle Dropping from Clothes Told What Happened

Mrs. Bessie Lehman Hipps, wife of Grover Hipps, who resides on the John Moore farm at the top of the hill on the road leading out of Lumber City, committed suicide about 6 o'clock this morning by taking a dose of strychnine.

Mrs. Hipps, who was 33 years of age, got up this morning as usual and got breakfast for her husband. When the meal was ready, about 6 o'clock, she called the husband from the barn where he was engaged in feeding his horses. The couple seated themselves at the table and Mrs. Hipps at once raised a cup of coffee to her lips and drank it. Shortly after drinking the coffee her husband says he noticed she became deathly sick and going to her he led her out onto the porch. Upon her arrival on the porch Mrs. Hipps was seized by a convulsion and while writhing in pain a bottle of strychnine dropped from her pocket to the floor of the porch.

which she said nobody was to blame but herself for the rash act she was about to commit, but that she proposed to commit suicide. She had been in bad health for some time and was subject to extreme nervousness and is said to have been impelled to commit the rash act through fear of her mind giving way.

Mrs. Hipps, whose home was said to have been at Fayetteville, Franklin county, Pa., was a college graduate and a successful Clearfield county school teacher before her marriage. In addition to her husband, she leaves five little children, the youngest being but about one year old.

Undertaker R. Wm. Thompson, of Clearfield, was called and prepared the remains for burial. The funeral will be held from the Hipps home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

T. D. Forsyth, who was seriously injured in an automobile wreck near Kellettown several weeks ago, is now convalescing at the home of his son, John C. Forsyth on Turnpike avenue. He has so far recovered as to be able to walk over town to the barber shop this morning. His back is still giving him considerable trouble.

Prominent Lumberman Either Falls Or Jumps To Death In Phila.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 14.—Clarance B. Sweet, President of the National Lumber Company of Blue Field, either fell or leaped to his death from a window in the fifth floor of the Bellevue-Stratford here today, police reported.

The lumberman plunged down an air shaft and landed on the roof of an adjoining two story building. Death was instantaneous.

MRS. BERGDOLL IS GOING TO EUROPE TO VISIT SLACKER

Washington, D. C. July 14.—A passport will be granted Mrs. Emma Bergdoll to go abroad to visit her son, Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, American draft dodger, reported to be in hiding in Sweden. It was stated authoritatively at the State Department today.

The State Department asked the Alien Property Custodian, who is holding property reported worth near one million dollars of Mrs. Bergdoll's, for an opinion and the reply was there was no objection to granting the passport.

Mrs. Bergdoll is said to intend to sail from New York on the Hanover Tuesday.

SIX CONVICTS ESCAPE FROM EASTERN PENITENTIARY AFTER OVER-POWERING GUARD; COMMANDEER TRUCK AND FLEE

Philadelphia, July 14.—Six convicts at the Eastern Penitentiary overpowered the guard and escaped by climbing over the wall today, according to the police.

The prisoners were fully armed and after beating the guards into submission secured a rope and scaled the prison walls. The convicts then leaped upon a passing truck, threw the driver out and sped toward Fairmont Park.

Washington, July 14.—Lieutenant Russell Maughan, the speed king of the army air service, probably will attempt again his dawn-to-dusk flight across the continent on Monday, Major General Patrick, chief of the air service, said today. Patrick stated that he had granted Maughan permission to make another attempt at the flight with the provision that all conditions will be favorable.

At a meeting of the old and new officers of Community Service held at the Hotel Jordan last evening plans for the coming campaign to raise the budget funds required for this year were discussed, together with a program of activities for the coming year.

Reports of the past year's work were read and discussed at length and the decision arrived at that Community Service was a decidedly good thing for Clearfield and Clearfield's young people.

The following committees or teams were named to solicit subscriptions for this year's funds:

No. 1 Captain Ralph Jordan, Aide to be named.

No. 2 John Wood, Aide, Scott McKelvey.

No. 3 Captain, Harry Evans, Aide, Paul Maharty.

No. 4 Captain, F. Gurney Smith, Aide to be selected.

It was decided to set aside Monday and Tuesday forenoons on which to do the soliciting and the four teams will be up and at it on both these days.

Therefore when the team for your district hits you up Monday or Tuesday, be ye ready to do your share toward supplying play and playgrounds for our boys and girls that their thoughts and acts may be directed along right lines.

For illustration of the point we desire to make, we will say that the community party held at Reedsville, in the Second Ward, last evening was attended by more than three hundred people. The grounds were handsomely decorated and lighted by lamps made by the children under Community Service direction.

MANY STATES JOIN IN ASSAULT ON STEEL PRICE PLAN

Chicago, July 14.—Michigan, Indiana, Missouri, Nebraska, South Dakota and Colorado will be asked to join with Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota in the fight on the Pittsburgh "plus" system in the steel industry.

The plan of attack agreed upon is to convince the Federal Trade Commission that Pittsburgh "plus" violates either the Clayton Act or the Federal Trade Act, prevents development of steel resources of the west or places a discriminatory burden of millions of dollars upon western steel consumers.

European Heat Wave Takes Toll Of Sixty Lives In Holland

Amsterdam, July 14.—Sixty persons died in Holland from the effects of the terrific heat this week. Temperature throughout Europe averaged 92 degrees, most intense here and in London where it is hottest in twelve years.

Berlin suffered its hottest day of the summer on Friday.

Paris, July 14.—The day France celebrates "The Day of Glory" of the Marcellus is being celebrated temporarily today because of the terrific heat. The great parade that ordinarily features Bastille Day was cancelled.

Tens of thousands danced in the open air during the night and early hours of the morn and unofficial estimates say that over six million beers, to say nothing of wine, were consumed in the first day of the two-day fete.

Demented Patient KILLS PHYSICIAN IN PHILA. OFFICE

Philadelphia, Pa., July 14.—Dr. Benjamin A. Delmarco was shot to death in his office last night by Rosco Linsalate, 20 year old, a patient who suddenly became demented and charged that the physician was giving him medicine that aggravated rather than helped a nervous ailment, according to the police.

The youth then fled from the office, flourishing his gun at a crowd which had been attracted by the shots. He ran to his home and awaited the arrival of the police.

Thriver towns, each famous as a rendezvous for Canadian booze smugglers, were raided in an effort to find booze smugglers in operation.

The raid was part of the campaign to stop booze running between Canadian points along the Detroit River, said to be the greatest illicit liquor movement in the country outside of the Atlantic Coast.

It Is Believed the Children Did Not See Car or Driver Didn't See Them Approaching.

A sad and distressing accident, which resulted in the death of a little 4-year-old girl and the serious injury to a 6-year-old boy, occurred in the town of Houtzdale last evening about 6 o'clock.

The little victims were Louise Peron, aged 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Peron, and Harry Ganoce, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ganoce, of Houtzdale.

BOYS' ARM BROKEN

The accident occurred on Brisbin street. The children had been riding in a coaster wagon down the hill leading toward Whiteside. Chattering in childish glee they got on their wagon about 6 o'clock for one more dash down the hill onto the new state road which passes through the town. As they approached the road at the crossing, which is a particularly dangerous one, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schreffler, of Philipsburg, drove along the state road in their Hudson car. The car and wagon reached the crossing about the same time, and on account of the character of the ground at the crossing it is thought neither the children nor the driver of the car saw each other until the little ones on their fatal joy ride dashed out onto the concrete road and ran directly into the passing automobile.

The wagon went under the wheels of the machine and with its little occupants was crushed to the road. The automobile was traveling at a very moderate rate of speed. Nevertheless the accident occurred so quickly that the driver was unable to stop his machine until it passed beyond the crossing and left the broken little bodies lying on the road behind it.

Both children were picked up unconscious and medical aid summoned at once. The little girl died almost instantly from internal injuries received, it is thought, by one of the wheels of the car passing over her body. Little Harry was more fortunate than his companion, but suffered a broken arm and painful cuts and bruises about the head and face.

The body of the little girl was taken in charge by Undertaker H. A. Sweeney, while the Ganoce lad was taken at once to the Cottage hospital at Philipsburg, where, after a careful examination, the physician in charge gave it as his opinion that his injuries were not necessarily fatal, although the X-ray will be used in an attempt to determine their severity and possible extent.

The Schrefflers, who feel very keenly their unfortunate part in the sad affair, were exonerated of all blame by those who witnessed the happening, also the parents of the victims of the accident.

HEALTH CONDITION IN CLEARFIELD CONTINUES FINE

The records of Secretary Gaulin of the local Board of Health show that for the past seven days but four cases of communicable disease were reported to the Board of Health. Of these three were diphtheria and one was scarlet fever. During the same period the quarantine was lifted in three cases.

There are at present eleven cases of communicable disease under quarantine in the town. They are located as follows:

First Ward: Scarlet fever 2, diphtheria 1.

Second Ward: Scarlet fever 1, diphtheria 1, whooping cough 2.

Third Ward: Scarlet fever 1, diphtheria 2.

MARRY A FOOTBALL PLAYER TO GET PERFECT HUSBAND, SAY 3 SISTERS WHO DID

By NEA Service.
ATLANTA, Ga., July 14.—What kind of men make the best husbands?
Sometime it takes a lifetime to find out, and even then there is doubt. But there is one Georgia family that is decided. Each of its three daughters unite in the answer:
"Football players make the best husbands."
For within six months the Misses Grace, Loretta and Ruth Jackson, belles in the younger southern social circles, married three stars of the Georgia Tech football team. Now they are respectively Mrs. Dewey Scarboro, Mrs. "Big Six" Carpenter and Mrs. "Daddy" Amis.
All of them are still honeymooning—the Carpenters in Florida, the Amises in California and the Scarboros in Atlanta.
"Sure enough," says Mrs. Scarboro, who has been married the longest of the three sisters, six months to be exact, "football players make the best husbands—though, of course, I've never tried any other kind of husband."
"You can always be sure that you've married a real man if you marry a man who has played through several seasons of football. For, if he wasn't a real man, he never would have stood the test."
She had often seen Scarboro on the gridiron. He was a hero popular with everyone.
Says Mrs. Scarboro: "But there never was a little voice whispering, 'Here's your future husband' when I first saw Dewey. I liked him, of course; everybody did."
Then they all went shopping.

MR. AND MRS. "DADDY" AMIS (LEFT), MR. AND MRS. "BIG SIX" CARPENTER (CENTER), AND MR. AND MRS. DEWEY SCARBORO

There is nothing like camp life to get people acquainted with each other, is there?" says the young bride. "We lived in tents and cooked on an oil stove and swam and drove and had a wonderful time. It was there we fell in love."
"Then one day Dewey called me up and said: 'let's get married today,' and said: 'All right.' And that's all there was to it."
Meanwhile football romances No. 2 and No. 3 were making rapid headway of their own. Loretta had fallen in love with "Big Six" Carpenter, Georgia Tech star of the class of '17; and Ruth had become engaged to "Daddy" Amis, member of last year's class.
"They planned a double wedding," explains their sister, "but they couldn't agree on what kind of wedding to have. One wanted a church wedding; the other a home wedding. Finally each had her own way."
"But we're all agreed good football players make good husbands."

LEGION WORKER HAS NO LEGS

State Adjutant of the Department of Idaho Does Not Allow Handicap to Interfere.

Handicapped? Lester F. Albert, state adjutant of the Department of Idaho of the American Legion, considers no physical disability an insurmountable obstacle. For this intrepid veteran of the World war, who at the battle of Cantigny lost both legs and suffered other serious wounds, has not faltered in performance of his work since his return to civilian life.

Albert, who was a lieutenant with Company C, 50th Engineers, was in action with the First French army at Cantigny in May, 1918. Two platoons of the company were under his command, as he was in charge of the Searchlight section. Their position was under the direct and heavy shell fire of the Germans during the night of May 17.

One of the German shells ended active service for Lieutenant Albert.

Lester F. Albert.

It shattered both his legs, tore off a finger of his right hand, and inflicted many severe body wounds. Only immediate surgical aid, followed by blood transfusion, was responsible for saving Albert's life.

After a long period in a government hospital at Fort Snelling, Minn., he returned to his home in Idaho, and took up his chosen work as an electrical engineer.

His activity in the organization of the American Legion, in Idaho brought him recognition from hundreds of ex-service men of the state and at the first annual convention he was named to the post of department adjutant. He has held this position since that time, and at the last convention was elected for a three-year period.

Mr. Albert's determination for rehabilitation in spite of the injury he suffered has won the admiration of Legionnaires all over the country. In noting the enthusiasm with which he carries on his work, the extent of the injury is never thought of. He considers that physical handicap will not thwart progress if determination is a factor in the fight against it.

DISABLED FELLOWS SHOW PEP

Legion Rehabilitation Officials Find Afflicted Men Make Good If Given Fair Chance.

It has always been the contention of American Legion rehabilitation officials that if the disabled man is given an equal start with those about him, the "vet" will come through with flying colors. This is borne out in many instances, but in perhaps none more clearly than at the North Dakota Agricultural college, where 100 Veterans' Bureau trainees are in attendance.

Names of five of these ex-soldiers were on the honor roll of the school when it was announced, a proportion of approximately 20 per cent of the total number of trainees enrolled as against 1 per cent of the other students who succeeded in making the honor grades. The average grade of these five veteran students was 92.6 per cent for the quarter.

The veterans are also active in campus affairs. Every officer elected at a meeting of the Draftsmen and Builders club at the college was a trainee. Burton Olekirk, a trainee, won outstanding honors as a judge of live stock when he was a member of the college team at the National Live Stock show at Chicago in competition with teams representing the other schools.

Harry Eckman, an ex-service student at the School of Agriculture of Minnesota, has won a medal for excellence in judging in competition with a large class of other live-stock students.

Legion Band and Drum Corps.

American Legion bands and drum corps are getting to be the common thing in Minnesota cities. Recently Northfield, Hutchinson and Red Wing Legion bands formed the corps, and recently the Pine City post took over the home town band. Legion musical organizations already existed at Duluth, Rochester, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Silver Lake and a number of other places.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

We are going to be a little more careful in future, after noting what happened Thursday evening down at Boyle's Thirty Acres. We've been thinking we're as "good" now as we ever was but guess there's some change after 40. Our chest measure shrank four inches after we learned of poor old Japs's downfall. We are now too proud to fight.

Adam Thompson of Cincinnati was the first man in the United States to use a bath tub. This was on December 20, 1842.

The installation of the bath tub in Mr. Thompson's home, and the actual use of it for bathing in winter, caused widespread publicity, and the newspapers devoted their columns to violent discussion of it. Certain patriots stated that this type of bathing was a degenerate luxury, designed to corrupt the democratic simplicity of the republic. The medical fraternity denounced it as "dangerous to health and bound to result in phthisis, rheumatic fevers, inflammation of the lungs and the whole category of zymotic diseases." Legislation reflected the common feeling.

The Philadelphia common council, late in 1843, considered an ordinance prohibiting bathing between November 1 and March 15, and it failed of passage by only two votes. During the same year the legislature of Virginia laid a tax of $30 a year on all bath tubs. Boston, early in 1845, made bathing unlawful except upon medical advice, but the ordinance was never enforced and in 1862 it was repealed.

President Millard Fillmore installed the first bath tub in the White House in 1851. This action broke down practically all prejudice, with the result that by 1860 every hotel in New York had one bath tub, and some had two and even three.

The old idea that "three score years and ten" is the normal span of life was scotched by Dr. Leonard Williams, famous London specialist, in a lecture on "Physiological Efficiency" to the Aldwych Club London.

Dr. Williams maintained that man, if he paid the necessary attention to dietary and health laws, ought to live to 140 or 150 years.

"There is nothing inevitable about illness," he said. "If we get a disease we ought not to be pined as victims, but condemned as fools."

"If the average age of the lower animals were estimated in relation to the time that it took to arrive at maturity," Williams continued, "man is seen at a disadvantage. Animals' instincts in regard to food are increasing, while the human mind is becoming blurred and fogged."

"Mankind is content with three score years and ten because it is, in matters physiological, content with a very low level of mediocrity. It has no ideas for which it is prepared to make sacrifices and will not deny itself needless luxuries and soft comforts."

"When a man arrives at maturity it is up to him to keep that maturity as long as he can. Instead of doing so, however, he sits down and impairs his efficiency as quickly as possible by sending out appeals to every microbe to come and take up residence in his body."

Physiological efficiency goes back to the question of diet. The world should partake of meagre fare, fresh air and all kinds of raw food," he concluded.

Lord Rayleigh, noted English scientist, recently gave the earth an age of two or three billion years in an interesting discussion from the point of view of the various sciences contained in a report of the Smithsonian Institution, just issued. Geologists have frequently estimated the age of the earth to be from ten to two hundred million years, but Lord Rayleigh, from a study of the rate of decomposition of the radio elements, makes his deduction that the earth's crust has been habitable for nearly three billion years.

Sense of Humor.

A sense of humor is a very fine thing. It lifts one over life's rough places as it were, with a leap and a bound, and lands one in safety on the farther bank of the swollen and threatening stream. You keep young if you possess it; the twinkle in your eye is a sign that old age is far from you yet, whatever your years may be. All the same, a sense of humor is a gift which must be displayed with discretion. The trouble is that, with most of us, it stops working when we need it most—that is, when things go wrong with our own affairs. The man who can smile when this happens is a hero.—Philadelphia Rev.

But They Will Do It.

HOUTZDALE CITIZEN DIES

Michael Gorman, aged about 47 years, and a brother of Postmaster John Gorman, of Houtzdale, passed away last evening at the Cottage State hospital at Philipsburg, where he had been a patient for a short time, as the result of an attack of mine's asthma.

The deceased, who followed er mining, was a life-long resident of Houtzdale. He was an industrious man, above the average in intelligence, and was well posted on public men and affairs.

He is survived by his aged father, two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Zeigler and Miss Anna Gorman, and three brothers, John, James and Thomas, all of Houtzdale.

Easton Pa. July 12.—President Judge Stewart of the Northampton County Courts today filed three opinions disposing of questions arising out of the Pinchot enforcement act. These cases are believed to be the first decided under that act, but a number of judges held differently under the Woner act.

Judge Stewart held as legal the search of an automobile on the highway and the confiscation of liquor found therein and the automobile by the state police. The court held that even if the officers had raised the blanket of the automobile and discovered liquor it could not be construed as "an unreasonable search," that it was perfectly lawful, under the automobile act, for a state policeman to stop any automobile and demand to see the driver's license and that if the officer then saw liquor, he had a right to arrest the driver, seize the liquor and his automobile without any warrant.

Liberal Construction Taken
The court further held that "the states, having ratified the Eighteenth amendment, and the Legislature having passed the Pinchot enforcement act, courts must recognize that most of the law violations were due to the use of automobiles and motorboats, and that it was the duty of the courts to aid in the enforcement of the Pinchot act by constructing its provisions liberally and not strictly."

It was the duty of every officer, when he discovered a violation of the act, to at once arrest the offender and seize his property without any warrant, but the word "discovered" meant that the officer must see the violation of the act; that an officer had no right to stop an automobile on the chance that it was transporting liquor.

No Exemption for "Flavors"
In the case of a hotelkeeper whose place was raided and a small quantity of cider and gin found, the court held that no exception was found in the law in favor of the use of liquor for flavoring purposes in a hotel. Rule for the return of the liquor was discharged.

In the case of a private house entered on a search warrant, such as is used in locating stolen goods, the seizure of liquor therein was found to be illegal, as "under the Pinchot enforcement act, no warrant could be issued to search any private dwelling house occupied as such unless it was used for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor."

The court directed the District Attorney to return the articles seized under the illegal warrant.

A decade ago dollar wheat was the hope of the farmer. For that it would have been profitable to grow the cereal. At the prices which then prevailed for labor and the things which the farmer had to purchase, dollar wheat would have given the farmer a margin over cost. But dollar wheat in those days before the war most times was something to be desired but not realized. Now dollar wheat—less on the farm—is here and threatening ruin. Conditions on the farm are different from what prevails when dollar wheat was a hope of better times. At the farmers' wheat declines in price to pre-war levels, what he has to buy remains at or near wartime heights. Wheat now is lower than at any time since before the war and there is not much prospect that it will go higher soon. That means that wheat growers will have less money to spend and the class of which they are a part is the largest engaged in a single occupation. This cannot fail to affect other business. Realization of this may be delayed for a time but the disparity in prices cannot continue indefinitely.

Yet, the low price of wheat may force its own cure. It may drive farmers to reduce acreage and substitution of other crops, though what could be substituted may present a problem. Patent nostrums are recommended but such had better be avoided. They cannot cure a fundamental condition—more wheat than the consumption demands. The situation is especially severe in the regions where wheat is the one crop. It is far less severe where there is diversity in farming, thus indicating the perils of adhering to one crop and the greater safety in diversity. All the eggs in one basket may mean ruin. Less loss may be met in separating them.

LITTLE GIRL SUFFERS BROKEN ARM IN FALL

Little Betty Wise, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wise, of Olanta, had both bones of her right arm broken just above the wrist yesterday when she fell from a swing at her home. She was brought to the Clearfield hospital, where an X-ray picture was taken and the fractured member set by Dr. Wilson. Although the injury was very painful, the young lady was able to return to her home yesterday evening and with good luck hopes to be about as usual in a short time. The swing, which was being pushed by a playmate, was at a considerable height when Miss Betty took her tumble and it is considered remarkable that she escaped much more serious injury.

Launce E. Soult returned from the Dickinson summer school of religious education at Carlisle, Pa., yesterday.

Political Paragraphs

ODELL HAUSER'S COLUMN

The present week ends a month, though there is nothing on the calendars to show it. That is probably because this is a political month and calendars are strictly non-partisan. It is the thirty-day period allowed by the constitution after the final adjournment of a legislative session during which the Governor may browse over the bills left on his hands at its end. If he acts on them, well and good. If he fails to act, they become law without his interposition.

Wherever our worthy Governor, quite in keeping with precedent, has been burning the midnight oil. As to these bills, he must make up his mind at once, or else keep silent for evermore.

The appropriation bills are giving the most trouble, which is also quite in accord with precedent. The Governor got his general appropriation bill out of the way last week, as has been duly recorded in these paragraphs. But he still has many appropriation bills before him, the ones relating to charitable institutions and hospitals constituting the most important, all things considered.

Mr. Pinchot has given practically everything else up during the week to devote himself to a consideration of these bills and the some four hundred others that lay on his desk when Monday came.

And it now appears he has struck a snag in connection with them. There are two schools of thought on the question of how much revenue the state may expect during the next two years on the basis of taxes now in force. It is really a guessing contest between Auditor General Lewis and Dr. Clyde L. Long, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

And of course the accuracy of their guesses is highly important. It is the groundwork of all the Governor has before him. He must finally come to some conclusion as to what the revenue will be and then cut the appropriations proposed by the General Assembly until they come within that sum. (Incidentally, let those who think we have a budget system in Pennsylvania reflect on that latter fact.)

Neither the Governor nor anyone else seems to be able to arrive with any confidence at a figure. Auditor General Lewis is an optimist and Dr. King is a pessimist on the subject. Mr. Lewis paints a glowing picture where moral is there is no way to prevent at least $130,000,000 from flowing into the coffers of the state during the next two years. Dr. King says: "Not so good!"

The great element of uncertainty is the new profits tax. Here Mr. Lewis and Dr. King reverse roles. It is Mr. Lewis who is the pessimist and Dr. King the optimist. The Auditor General just throws his hands in the air when he is asked about that tax. He will not estimate on it at all and it is not included in his $130,000,000 estimate.

Dr. King will go a little further than that, but he will not go as far as did the General Assembly. The law-makers thought the tax would be worth $12,000,000. But the budget officer has now made up his mind that it will not show a total of $10,000,000 in receipts.

The uncertainty involved in such differences of opinion illustrates what difficulty the Governor is in. His, in the end, will be the responsibility. And it lies more heavily on him than on some other governors, for from the very beginning one of the things he has insisted on has been that he would approve no appropriations in excess of the state's reasonable expectation of revenue.

This is his dilemma: if he takes the higher estimates of

"It isn't length of acquaintance that counts with people—it's sudden tests—and being able to speak the same language—occasionally, even. Progress Editorial For Women

VARIETIES OF SUCCESS

By Florence Davies

It's easy enough to write success rules. But it's quite another thing to succeed. Even some of the successful men may be deluding themselves. Their success lies in themselves, in a combination of forces and qualities which who tell you how they have done it can not be described or taught to another.

For instance, one successful man says that he has succeeded because he starts every day with a clean slate. There is no overlapping of jobs he says.

Isn't that beautiful? Suppose we suggest that successful rule to the mothers of the land. How they would laugh.

Suppose we even suggest it to the housekeepers of the land.

"That's fine," they would say "Every day a fresh beginning". So it can be in the kingdom of the mind, and so it should be. But to have no jobs overlap? Will the successful gentleman who proposes that plan just try running a house for six youngsters and a husband, darning socks and finishing the ironing, making jam, and baking cakes, cleaning the china cabinet and taking Willie to the doctor, starting a dress for Sam and stopping to add a little water to the pot roast?

I'm thinking a job or two might overlap. It sort of seems, in fact, that for a woman like that, her whole life is just one long job that keeps right on lapping over from one day to the next, and that the courage to keep right on keeping on at an endlessly overlapping job is about all she needs to spell success.

It's fine for the millionaires, if they manage to find success so simple. We

Valuable Gum Mines.
Probably the only gum mines in the world are in New Zealand, where there is a whole district in which fossilized gum from trees that died centuries ago is found a few feet below the surface. The substance is valuable for it makes the best kind of transparent varnish, and many fortunes have been made by men who have worked it.

every-day women folks can't write it quite that way.

Finishing one job before you begin another, clearing your desk every day, starting every day with a fresh blotter, is all so very neat. If only life arranged itself like that it wouldn't be much of a job to live successfully. But housekeeping, at least, has a way of keeping right on. It doesn't make convenient little stopping places for itself.

That's why a woman must learn to make them for herself, in spite of her 24-hour job.

Unfortunately the housekeeper and mother can't start each day with a clean slate. There will be many leftover overlapping jobs, many 24-hour puzzling problems, many instant responsibilities.

But she can learn to make her own stopping places. And if she is to be truly successful she must learn to. She must learn when to say, "That job is not done, but it must wait. The next hour is for me."

If she does this, she will find success even though it isn't as easily made as that prescribed by the millionaires.

"Over The Hill" will be the attraction at the Driggs Theatre Monday and Tuesday. It's a real story told in a homey way. 7:15:2c

Why The Rush?

One of the master tricks of the glib salesman of blue sky stock is to enthuse the prospect with a glittering one-sided story and then rush an immediate sale before the prospect has an opportunity for thorough investigation.

"We welcome investigation," says he, "BUT a person of your intelligence can see that this is an exceptional opportunity. The stock is limited and liable to be oversubscribed at any time, then too, the price will shortly be increased."

Why the Rush? If his stock was that good, he WOULD NOT HAVE TO PEDDLE IT. Don't let him stampede you.

LESSON FOR JULY 15

SIMON PETER

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 16:13-18;
John 21:15-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Lord, Thou knowest
all things; Thou knowest that I love
Thee."—John 21:17.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—John
13:42; John 18:1-11; 20:1-10; 21:1-23;
Acts 2:1-5.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Peter, the Helper
of Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Leader of the Twelve.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—
Peter's Failures and Successes.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—
Peter's Weakness and Strength.

I. His Name. (John 1:42).
The name which he bore when induced to Christ was Simon, which means "hearing." But Jesus gave him
a new name—"Peter," which means
"rock." This showed what he was to become.

II. His Call. (John 1:41, 42).
His brother Andrew brought him to Christ. This brought him into fellowship with the Lord. From ordinary discipleship he was called to special ministry (Luke 5:10). From being a fisherman he was called to catch men.

III. Peter's Character.
1. Sincere. What Peter was at heart could be read on his face. He was free from duplicity. People could understand him. Because of this characteristic they could tell when he was lying. Yet even when people
knew he was in error they could believe in him. He seems to have been
ignorant of the word "diplomacy."

2. Prompt. He had the ability to decide and act quickly, as the occasion
demanded. This made him a real
leader. His action at the empty tomb
was an example of his promptitude.
John outran Peter, but Peter was the first to enter the tomb. When Cornelius sent for him at Joppa he responded
without delay.

3. Courageous. While Peter played
the coward sometimes, he was for the most part a brave man. No doubt it
was through courage that he joined
the Lord, but it was his courage that
brought him to follow the Lord into
the palace of the high priest.

4. Intense. He felt deeply, and acted with vigor. Whether right or wrong, what he did he did with all
his might. When he preached it was
with passion. No finer example of burning eloquence can be found than
his Pentecostal sermon.

IV. Peter's Confession of Christ
(Matt. 16:13-19).
The disciples had been with the Lord for several years. They had heard His mighty words and seen His mighty works. Various opinions were extant about Him. It was now necessary for them to have a definite conception of Him. The Master-Teacher
knew the necessity of having the disciples get the right conception of Himself.

1. What It Was (v. 16). It involved
His Messiahship—"The Christ," and
deity—"Son of the living God." This is the burning question today. Those who have the right conception of Christ's person and mission have no
trouble in the realms of science, philosophy or ethics.

2. Christ's Commendation (v. 17).
He pronounced him blessed. Truly he
was blessed, for he both possessed and confessed the Christ. The evidence that Peter was blessed was that he was in spiritual touch with the Father
in Heaven.

3. Peter's Blessing (v. 18). Christ
declared that he should be the foundation stone in His church. Christ is the chief cornerstone on which the church
is built. Christ's person and Messian-
ship was confessed by Peter, and on
this rock he laid the foundation of
apostles and prophets (Eph. 2:20).
All believers are living stones of this
house (1 Peter 2:5).

V. Peter's Restoration (John 21:15-17).
Peter grievously sinned in denying
the Lord, but he made a confession,
shedding bitter tears of penitence over
his sin and folly. The Lord tenderly
dealt with His erring disciple and restored him. In this restoration He brought to Peter's mind the essential
qualification for his ministry. Love is
the pre-eminent gift for Christ's service. To impress this upon him, he
three times asked the question, "Lovest
thou me?" Three chances of proof
were to be served: (1) Those beginning the Christian life—"Feed my
lambs." (2) The mature Christians
—"Shepherd my sheep." The shepherd
needs to protect and feed the sheep.
Love is the one essential equipment
for this service. (3) The aged Christians—"Feed my sheep." Love is needed in dealing with the fathers and
mothers in Israel.

VI. Peter's Restoration (John 21:15-

the Lord, but he made a confession,

The interplayground base ball game yesterday afternoon with only one of the two scheduled games. Witmer Park went to Reedsville taking the game 29-3. The matter of age and size limit for the league is a hard one to decide. If the boys in one part of town who are willing to stand by and uphold their ward are bigger than from another, the ones who are getting the worst of it will have to rally around and save their team. It would scarcely be fair to put a big boy off his team because he is of his size in the opposing ward cause loss for the credit of their team then he. There is plenty of base ball material in Reedsville that should report to Manager Gordon Warner who is putting in a lot of hard work trying to get in a good line of defense. The return game with Witmer Park comes next Friday so it is up to the Second Ward to strengthen their team before then.

Something was seriously wrong with the East End team—West Side sat and waited for a non appearing foe for most of the afternoon. The two managers, Lee Confer and Reid Passmore are getting together to arrange a game so as to avoid the inevitable forfeit.

A New Triumph in Roadster Design

Striking, sportive contour and companionable comfort are masterfully combined in the New Six 40 Moon Roadster. It is a new triumph in roadster design where speed and power are given complete expression.

Seating three people in friendly consort, and with unhindered freedom of motion for the driver, it appeals instantly to those who seek the "happy medium" in carrying capacity, in a car of distinction.

You know at a glance it's a Moon—the car of the famous proven units. You know it by the unique brilliant silver radiator—by its captivating individuality.

But you must ride in it to fully realize what the picture and the printed word can only partially convey. Just telephone.

A distinctive model for every requirement of the motoring public

Curwensville's Own Column

Mrs. Edith Stinerock Stiver, who died suddenly at her home on Tanager Row, South Side, Thursday evening, of acute indigestion, was born May 8th, 1870 at Philipsburg, Pa., and prior to the Stiver family coming to Curwensville resided in Penfield, where the deceased has many close and warm friends who will be sad to learn of her premature demise. She was a lady of refinement and Christian character, content to remain at home and provide for the comfort of her husband and children. Charitable in her deeds, she visited and ministered to family and neighbor alike. She leaves to mourn her departure for her final home, a husband, three daughters and one son, viz: Mrs. Guy Forcove, Mrs. John Shively, son, John Stiver and Mrs. Ira Mix, of Erie and one sister, Mrs. Afton Robbier of Penfield. The funeral has been arranged for Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from the Stiver home. Interment in Oak Hill cemetery.

IDAHO VILLAGES SUFFER HEAVILY BY MANY FIRES

Bozeman, Wash., July 13.—The mining towns of Mace and Burke, east of Kellogg, Idaho, are reported destroyed by forest fires sweeping up the western slope of the Bitter Root mountains.

While communication with the fire-swept district is down. Fear is felt for the lives of tourists on the Yellowstone Trail Highway, which is understood from men's reports to be in the path of the flames.

A thousand persons are reported homeless in the two towns. Mace is destroyed. The business section of Burke is in flames and little hope is saving what remains of the town.

The loss at 4 p. m. was estimated between $300,000 and $400,000 and the progress of the fire is said to be unchecked.

Attempts to block the fire by dynamiting homes, business houses and work in the Washburn coal mine, I think he may lose one finger.

Work on the state road is progressing nicely. Next week ought to see the finishing of the concrete work.

Miss Mary Wheeling visited relatives in Clearfield on Thursday.

mine structures proved futile because of the high wind.

With the business section of Burke completely gone and a large portion of the residential section burning, fire fighting efforts at 4:30 p. m. centered a short distance up the canyon from Burke, where the large hotel of the Hecla Mining Company, together with the mine's recreational center, was threatened.

All members of the rich silver-lead mines of the district, estimated at several thousand, have turned to fighting the fire.

Wallace, Idaho, July 14.—A hundred persons are homeless and property worth one million dollars is in ruins today as a result of a fire which destroyed the town of Burke, seven miles east of here late Friday.

The entire business section and practically all the residence districts were wiped out. Surface property of the Hecla Mining Company, one of the foremost lead and silver companies was completely destroyed. One hundred men have been rendered jobless. One woman was burned severely while attempting to remove furniture from her home.

DENTISTRY

Not many years have passed since the great fact was established that you can't have good health without good teeth. While the Dentist has labored many years to educate the people as to the truth of this fact, it has taken science and such celebrated medical men as Dr. Charles Mayo, and many others, to endorse the Dentist and establish him in an entirely new place in protecting human life. And the only way the Dentist can make strong men and women, who will grow old gradually and gracefully, with full measure of health and strength on the road, is by starting the care of the teeth while the children are young, and to teach them the great importance of good teeth to good health.

Dentistry is beyond question part of the healing art, for the teeth are the cause of fifty per cent of the ills of the human system.

The American Dentist is looked upon as the leader in the field of Dentistry and he is trying to teach the important fact that an unhealthy mouth is the cause of many ills that can be avoided, and that modern Dentistry now holds that preventing of tooth decay is more important than its healing. Remember that the great secret of good health is good food, well prepared and divided so as to contain all the nutritious principles necessary to nourish the system, good teeth so that one can masticate, clean mouth to prevent infection.

Focal infection may be caused by any tooth in your mouth. A dead pulp or nerve may lay dormant for many years, but the puss that is generated at the end of a root is absorbed by the blood and circulated through the entire system, causing most organic troubles. We cannot prevent all mouth infection but we can prevent most of it by curing the abscesses and putting your mouth in a sanitary condition.

I have resumed the practice of my profession and am ready and well equipped to do all up-to-date dental work at your home, your store, your factory, your farm, and in any part of town or county. I will not have a regular office, but will make my office wherever I am called, giving everybody a good opportunity to attend to their dental needs.

My phone call is H. & C. 323-J-3, or you can drop me a card or letter and I will give appointments in rotations.

Soliciting the patronage of all my former patients and any new ones who wish to call me, Yours for good Dentistry and good Health,

On the other hand, if he takes the lower estimates as correct and vetoes a lot of the appropriations, only to find in the end that pessimistic viewpoints were at fault, he will be in the position of having offended many persons and curtailed every public work on grounds of economy when there is really plenty of money lying around in the state treasury dressed up and no place to go.

The problem is bad enough when considered from the point of view of revenue to be derived from the taxation system as it exists at present. But there are also among the bills awaiting action by the Governor several which would change the taxation system in important particulars.

For instance, there is a bill of Representative Ludlow which would exempt charitable institutions from the provisions of the collateral inheritance tax. The Governor's attorney general is said to favor it. Yet if the Governor makes it law, the state will lose about $1,000,000 it has been accustomed getting from this source.

Then the question of what the appropriation liability inherited from previous administrations actually is proves embarrassing. Mr. Lewis places it at $27,000,000 and says $1,000,000 of that can be allowed to lapse. Dr. King, on the other hand, stands resolutely by the figure of $29,000,000 he caused be inserted in the budget to cover this subject.

The anthracite coal tax has its complications, too. The assembly passed a bill of Senator Davis which restores to the anthracite counties a part of the money paid in coal taxes. The Governor approves it, a good slice of the revenue he had kept upon to meet general appropriations will be gone.

Residents of the anthracite counties have made strenuous efforts to get Mr. Pinchot to approve the bill. A formidable delegation came to urge it upon him personally. His attitude has been somewhat discouraging, but the hard coal people are pinning for a favorable verdict because they know the Governor fully conversant with the bad conditions that prevail on account of mine caves.

Owing to the Governor's absorption in appropriation matters, very little has been done during the week in connection with the re-organization of the state government, which is a primary interest among politicians. Nor has the Governor announced any appointments of importance, not even of the board of Registration Commissioners in Philadelphia, though the terms expired during the week and the subject is a hot one among the embattled hosts preparing for the hostilities of a mayoralty campaign.

However if the Governor has not done much about re-organization there are others who have. The two "constitution-state officials" who were considered banged over the knuckles when Mr. Pinchot wielded his veto pen on the appropriation bill, have told the world what they propose to do.

Secretary of Internal Affairs Woodward has started to put a cloth to the new pattern by abandoning some of his activities and appealing to business organizations to do some of the work that was formerly done under the aegis of the state's payroll.

Treasurer Snyder, on the other hand, refuses to let himself be bothered. In a statement bristling with the same kind of attack he has previously made on the Governor, he announces that he is not going to dismiss any of his employees. His plan is to go right on with his present force until all the money appropriated for their salaries is gone, and then run the office as best he can with those few employees whose duties and salaries are prescribed by statute.

In the meantime some of the Governor's appointees are expediting the work of cutting heads off. This week a half dozen political lieutenants, Senator Leslie of Pittsburgh, administration foe, were separated from their jobs.

In another instance there was apparently progress too rapid to suit the Governor's fancy. Secretary of Agriculture Willets dismissed several employees, among them Dr. J. G. Sanders, a bureau head. Dr. Sanders was an old friend of the Governor's from Roosevelt days and saw him about his dismissal. One result of the interview, at least, was an order by the Governor that future dismissals should not be summary, but that ample notice should be given.

It is now believed that the evidences of reorganization, exemplified by the dropping of the legislative committee, will not come until well into August. The Reorganization Board constituted under the new law has not met with the Governor this week because he has been too busy. It is also said a standardization of salaries plan will be worked out before anything is done.

So for the present at least we shall have peace. The period may be used for rearing up and strengthening nerves, because when the real battle begins the moans of the wounded and the shrieks of the dying on the Harrisburg battlefield will be calculated to throw the most hardened out of gear.

PAIGE THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR IN AMERICA

3000 miles of care-free comfort

Has owned four cars costing more than Paige, but never one so delightful

Mr. H. M. Jewett, President, Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co., Detroit, Michigan.

Dear Mr. Jewett:

As requested in your letter of June 4, I am glad to write you more about my trip which you are at liberty to use for advertising. Not making any personal publicity, I would prefer that it be published without my name.

I have always driven cars costing considerably more than the Paige, feeling that the best was none too good for the kind of touring I like to do. Naturally, it was with some misgivings that I undertook my first trip in your car, with which I felt unfamiliar. Also, I have never used an enclosed car for touring before, and I expected it to be a little weak on hill climbing, as well as a little top-heavy on the road.

Starting without great confidence in the car because of its moderate price and because of my unfamiliarity with it, I was of course always looking for some kind of trouble to develop. From that point of view, my trip was a continual series of disappointments. I have had no trouble except what was due to my own carelessness, and might have occurred to the most skillful car I could buy.

This seems a good place to say that one of the things I very much appreciate about the Paige is the high character of its representatives and their eagerness to see that all Paige cars satisfy

their owners, regardless of whether they sold them. I was also surprised at their moderate charges for various odd jobs, for which I have been accustomed to paying more.

But to tell you more about my trip, I am enclosing a map on which I have marked it. The roads are boulevards practically everywhere, except where I found repair wagons had not reached holes made by the severe winter weather, and some places where construction was under way. But it is in just such unfavorable road conditions that my Paige showed one of its fine advantages. It means something to me now that the Paigerears springs are more than five feet long, and that it has 131 inches of wheelbase. I can truthfully say I have never driven or ridden in any car which rode more comfortably and handled more easily on difficult roads.

There are big and fairly steep grades in the Cumberland Mountains, White Mountains, and the Adirondacks, all of which I went through. I am pleased to tell you that your claims about Paige hill climbing in high gear are true. Except when some sharp turn or cars ahead in the road made slowing down necessary, I practically never dropped into second speed. And on the down grades, where one frequently gets going a little too fast, I can truly say the car changed me on the score of ease in changing into second, when going 25 or 30 miles an hour. I have been accustomed to using the scheme of spinning up the gears by letting in the clutch momentarily, but I found this not at all necessary with the Paige. My wife drove a large part of the trip with great enjoyment and without noticeable tilting. She joins me in my praise of Paige handling ease.

I don't know whether you will be interested in hearing my point of view on enclosed bodies, but I can tell you I am sold on them for touring, as well as for city work, after my experience. We drove two whole days with the automatic windshield wiper going all the time—on other days into dust clouds, or cold winds in the mountains. And the pleasure of being able to regulate one's own comfort by merely turning a window-handle, as one that I never appreciated before as I did in your Paige Brougham. Contrary to my expectations, the car is not hot in warm weather.

Perhaps I should close my letter by saying that the Paige is a far finer car than I ever imagined it to be. In fact, it is more comfortable to ride in, and easier to handle than any higher priced car I know of. If your car were better known for what it actually is, I am sure far more of them would be sold to people who have been accustomed to paying $3000 to $4000 for a touring car. Very truly yours,

A TRAVELLING DENTIST

Dr. J. L. R. Reichhold, of Clearfield, who has been a dental practitioner here for many years, is proving that old Dr. Osler was all wrong. For the past couple of years the Doctor has been building himself a mighty fine home on Old Town Road and now that the job is done is again turning his attention to his professional work. He is going at it from a new angle. His equipment is a nifty automobile coupe, a kit of tools, packed for connecting to an electric light socket or foot treadle and years of experience. He will call at the home, the office or the store and make "dining room furniture" repairs at your convenience.
